

To:	Warden Milne and Members of Grey County Council
Committee Date:	April 27, 2023
Subject / Report No:	FR-CW-11-23
Title:	2023 Tax Policy
Prepared by:	Mary Lou Spicer, Director of Finance
Reviewed by:	Kim Wingrove, CAO
Lower Tier(s) Affected:	All Local Municipalities
Status:	Recommendation adopted by Committee as presented per Resolution CW73-23; Endorsed by County Council on May 11, 2023, per Resolution CC36-23.

Recommendation

1. That report FR-CW-11-23 regarding 2023 property tax policy be received; and
2. That County Council reduce the tax ratio for the multi-residential property class from 1.441197 to 1.330900, which is one-quarter of the movement required to equalize the treatment of all residential classes; and
3. That County Council adopt all other 2023 tax ratios and subclass reductions for 2023 taxation; and
4. That the necessary By-laws be drafted for Council's consideration and approval.

Executive Summary

This report provides Council with background and advice in support making decisions with regard to 2023 tax policy matters.

Under the rules and regulations created by the Province, Grey County as the upper tier municipality is responsible for the development of property tax policies. These are set annually, working in collaboration with member municipalities. The tax policies serve to apportion the tax burden across the different tax classes. They must be ratified by by-law each year.

The local and County portion of a property owner's tax bill is based on the budgetary needs of the lower and upper tier municipality. For residential property owners, the residential tax rate is determined by dividing the total tax requirement by the total weighted assessment. MPAC allocates properties into one of ten mandatory property tax classes and provides a current value assessment figure for each property.

The member municipalities are responsible for the administration of tax billing, tax adjustments, tax collection, issuing rebates and taxpayer inquiries.

After consultation with member municipality treasurers and their staff and the County's tax consultant, Municipal Tax Equity (MTE), staff recommend the use of the same tax ratios, subclass discounts and class structure utilized in 2022 for 2023 taxation with the exception of the multi-residential class ratio.

It is recommended that the multi-residential class ratio be reduced by 7.65 per cent from 1.441197 to 1.330900. This reduction represents one-quarter of the difference between the current ratio and a ratio of 1.00, which would mean equalization with the residential and new multi-residential classes. The information and recommendations contained in this report have no impact on the County's 2023 approved budget; it reflects how the County and member municipalities tax levies will be distributed among the various property tax classes.

Background and Discussion

The purpose of this report is to provide County Council with the background and advice in regard to various tax policy decisions that will influence how the 2023 property tax levy is shared amongst different classes of property and also among the County's 9 member municipalities.

These decisions, which must be ratified and enacted via by-law, will impact the final balance of both local and County tax levies, however, they will have no bearing on tax rates for school purposes, which are set by the province.

MTE provided Council and staff with an education session regarding taxation and assessment on February 9, 2023. The tax policy items set out below were discussed on February 22 with the local municipal treasurers and an email follow up discussion in early March confirmed their support of the recommendations contained in this report. Owen Sound is responsible for their own tax policy and has adopted the same one-quarter reduction for the multi-residential class ratio.

Property Assessment and Taxation

Ontario's property tax system is complex and relies on a number of participants including the Provincial Government, the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC), municipalities and taxpayers themselves.

The overall tax and assessment system is shaped by provincial legislation and regulations, which establish each participant's roles, responsibilities, and limitations. As an upper-tier municipality, the County of Grey is charged with levying its own purpose taxes and must also make a host of tax policy decisions that will shape the property tax program throughout the County.

Current Value Assessment and Assessment Cycles

The Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC) is responsible for returning and adjusting the property assessment rolls against which property taxes are levied in Ontario. Each property is classified in accordance with its use, nature and/or zoning and is assigned an assessment value based on a specific valuation date. Between 2009 and 2020, values were updated to reflect a newer valuation date every four years with the latest reassessment based on the estimated market value of properties as of January 1, 2016. Valuation increases from one cycle to the next were phased-in in equal 25% increases over the four-year cycles, while decreases flowed through immediately.

2021 was scheduled to be the first year of a new assessment cycle moving from January 1, 2016, values to January 1, 2019, market values, however, this reassessment was paused in early 2020 as part of the province's response to COVID-19. As part of its 2021 Spring Budget, the Province extended this pause through 2023. As such, property taxes will once again be levied against the 2016 based CVA's for this year. At no time since the current system was introduced in 1998 have taxes been levied against assessments so disconnected and distant from actual market values and it is unknown/unclear when or how the reassessment exercise will be restarted.

Real Assessment and Revenue Growth

Despite the pause on reassessment, real growth continues to occur in the real world and the roll is continually updated to reflect these changes in the state, use and condition of property. And, unlike reassessment, which simply involves valuing the same properties at a different point in time, positive growth represents new property, an expanded tax base and additional revenue for the municipality.

A municipality's annual growth is measured as the net of all changes processed from when the roll is originally returned, to when it is finally closed (coincided with the return of the next year's roll).

From a tax policy perspective, and for the purposes of the municipality's annual levy decisions, we are measuring the overall size and capacity of the tax base as we enter the new year, in comparison to the tax base against which the County levied taxes last year.

On an annualized basis, the net growth-related gain or loss in taxation capacity is the difference between the total tax amount as determined against the returned roll and the total tax as determined against the roll as revised. The County's 2022 annualized revenue growth is summarized in Table 1.

The calculation of annualized revenue growth is a critical input for the new taxation year as it establishes the “revenue limit” for the coming year. This revenue limit represents the tax dollars that can be raised for the new year with a 0% levy change. Table 2 provides a summary of 2022 revenue growth by member municipality along with the corresponding growth in each municipality’s own purpose general levy.

County Wide	$1,591,655	2.44%	$2,848,658	2.26%

Another aspect of growth that is critical to keep in mind, is that the increased revenue is derived exclusively from new or newly improved property. Existing taxpayers do not contribute to this revenue increase. This is particularly important when considering changes in the upper-tier requisition from one year to the next.

2023 Base-Line Taxation Landscape

In the absence of any reassessment or phase-in for 2022 the distribution of the County’s 2022 revenue neutral starting levy varies little from the year-end position summarized in Tables 1 and 2 above. There is a modest realignment when the County’s revenue limit is raised against the assessment roll as returned for 2023 under status quo tax policy. The starting notional tax rates for County purposes are set out in Table 3.

Tax Policy and the Balance of Taxation

The Municipal Act, 2001 provides municipalities with a range of tax policy tools that serve to influence and alter the distribution of the tax burden both within and between property tax classes. Some of these tools are optional and may be called upon to address specific circumstances, others are integral to our tax system and must be set each year before final tax rates can be calculated.

As an upper-tier municipality, the County is responsible for establishing the class structure that applies and for setting tax ratios and subclass discounts on an annual basis. The tax ratios and discounts influence how the overall levy will be shared amongst different classes and types of property. Optional classes and subclasses may be employed to create more fine-grained policy schemes with varied ratio and discount sets.

The tax policy does not impact the amount of taxes levied or collected, it determines the distribution of the taxes to be raised. Similarly, changing tax ratios, discounts or class structure will not result in a municipality raising any more, or any fewer tax dollars overall; such changes will, however, result in tax shifts at the property and class levels and among area municipalities depending on the assessment make up within each.

Tax Ratios

Tax ratios effectively alter the weighting, or distribution of the levy which results in the share of tax differing from the share of assessment for each class. The more dramatic the ratio, the larger the difference between the share of assessment and share of tax each class carries.

Table 5 documents how the County's status quo tax class and tax policy scheme influences the balance of taxation.

Altering Tax Ratios

By changing tax ratios, the municipality can influence and alter the balance of taxation, however, such movement is constrained by a complex set of Provincial rules and limitations. Generally speaking, a municipality may choose to maintain the prior year's ratios or establish new ratio(s) that are closer to or fall within the Provincially prescribed Ranges of Fairness. The exceptions to this are the residential and managed forest classes. Residential is the fixed base against which all other ratios are applied, the managed forest ratio is fixed at 0.25.

Table 6 sets out the County's 2023 status quo tax ratios and Council's range of flexibility for each.

Subclasses and Subclass Discounts

In addition to classes and ratios, there are subclasses that apply to different property types depending on use, zoning, nature of improvements and nature of enterprise.

As of 2021, the County only utilizes the first subclass of Farmland Awaiting Development. These subclasses are taxed at 25% of the residential tax rate for municipal and education purposes.

Optional Property Classes

The County of Grey in 2005 established a Resort Condominium property class and in 2012 adopted the New Multi-Residential property, which became a default class in 2017.

Tax Policy Recommendations

That the Director of Finance be directed to prepare the necessary by-law to set tax policy and County tax rates for 2023 based on:

- The County’s 2023 own-purpose levy requirement as established under By-Law No. 5150-23, a By-law to Adopt the Estimates and Revenue and Expenditures for the Year 2023, which was adopted by Council on February 9, 2023.; and
- The County’s 2021 tax class structure, tax ratios and subclass discount treatment for all classes except the multi-residential class for which a ratio decrease is recommended as detailed in Table 7 and discussed below.

Table 7: 2022 Actual and 2023 Recommended Tax Ratios

Realty Tax Class	2022 Actual	2023 Recommended	Difference
Residential	1.000000	1.000000	0.00%
Farm	0.218000	0.218000	0.00%
Managed Forest	0.250000	0.250000	0.00%
New Multi-Residential	1.000000	1.000000	0.00%
Multi-Residential	1.441197	1.330900	-7.65%
Commercial	1.296900	1.296900	0.00%
Resort Condominium	1.000000	1.000000	0.00%
Industrial	1.831000	1.831000	0.00%
Landfill	1.000000	1.000000	0.00%
Pipeline	0.906848	0.906848	0.00%

As per Table 7, it is recommended that the multi-residential class ratio be reduced by 7.65 per cent from 1.441197 to 1.330900. This reduction represents one-quarter of the difference between the current ratio and a ratio of 1.00, which would mean equalization with the residential and new multi-residential classes.

This recommendation was developed in consultation with member municipality treasurers and their staff and the County’s tax consultant, Municipal Tax Equity (MTE). In addition to aligning with the general priorities around housing, this recommendation being made in light of three key considerations:

1. The Province of Ontario has indicated that it is looking at options for the elimination of a multi-residential rate differential and as such, Staff suggest it is prudent to initiate a measured migration;
2. The City of Owen Sound, which sets its own tax ratios has confirmed a staged reduction to its own multi-residential ratio will begin in 2023. Coordinated reduction plans will maximize the impact of the City's reductions and more effectively target the County's reductions to the multi-residential properties in the City, which make up approximately 50% of the County's assessment for this class; and
3. With the current pause in reassessment, this change can be made in the absence of any complicating or counteracting shifts that may be present in a reassessment or phase-in year.

Tax Ratio Change Impacts and Sensitivity

Changes to policy parameters, including tax ratios and subclass discounts will not impact the total amount of the tax levy, but will impact the balance of taxation, or distribution of that levy. That is, a reduction in a tax ratio will reduce the taxes for that property class, but that decrease will be shifted or reapportioned to other classes.

As such, specific analysis must be undertaken in order to understand the impact and implication of any change before it is made. Tables 8 and 9 have been prepared to document the inter-class and inter-municipal differences associated with the recommended reduction to the multi-residential class ratio.

County-Wide	$67,932,646	$67,932,706	$60	0.00%

The estimated County levy shift off of the City of Owen Sound's requisition is driven by the fact that more than half of the County's multi-residential assessment is located in the city.

The city has already ratified a reduction to its own multi-residential ratio, also based on a one-quarter movement towards 1.00. However, because the City's historic ratio is higher than the County's, the 2023 reduction will be greater.

It is estimated, that in all, the multi-residential class within the city will see a reduction in County purpose tax dollars in excess of $80,000 and over $300,000 in City levy.

Draft Tax Rates and Levy Distribution

Other Policies

The following policies have been adopted by Council in the past and legislation does not require ratification or reconsideration on an annual basis and is mentioned here for information purposes.

Tax Relief to Certain Elderly and Disabled Persons who are Owners of Real Property in the County of Grey – In 2021 the County's relief program was updated to provide for the cancellation of annual tax increases for the purpose of relieving financial hardship for the low-income seniors and low-income persons with disabilities.

Tax Rebate Program for the purposes of Providing relief from taxes on Eligible Property Occupied by Eligible Charities – This program provides for the partial rebate of taxes, or amounts paid on account of taxes by eligible charities and designed similar organizations.

Business Class Tax Capping - Business tax capping was originally introduced as a mandatory program to limit reassessment related year-over-year tax changes for multi-residential, commercial, and industrial class properties. As of 2016 municipalities were given tools that allowed for the wind-down of these protection mechanisms as properties reached their full destination tax levels. As of 2020 all business class properties in Grey County had reached this level and the County's requirement to maintain the program ceased.

Provincial Education Property Tax

Residential and Farm Rates - Since 1998, the Minister of Finance has regulated a uniform residential education tax rate (applies to: residential, multi-residential, new multi-residential, and resort condominium) as well as uniform rate for the farm and managed forest property classes.

These rates apply province wide and are unchanged from 2021 at 0.0015300 for residential and 0.0003825 for Farm and Managed Forest.

Business Education Tax (BET) Rates - The Province also prescribes business education (BET) rates which were set uniquely by Single and Upper-Tier from 1998 through 2007. In 2008, the province began a migration towards uniform commercial and industrial education tax rates. This was finally achieved as of 2021 with mostly all business class rates, including commercial, industrial, pipeline and landfill classes, being set at 0.008800.

Retained Education Levies for Certain Payment in Lieu (PIL) Properties - Federal and Provincially owned and occupied properties are exempt from both municipal and provincial (education) property taxes. Both levels of government do, however, maintain programs whereby payments are made to local governments in lieu of the taxes that would otherwise be applicable to property that they own and occupy. Under certain circumstances local municipalities (single or lower tier) retain the education portion of the levy as local revenue.

For municipalities that were accustomed to large, retained education payments the reduction of BET rates posed significant budgetary concerns. In an attempt to alleviate these concerns, the province regulated special PIL rates for properties to which these special retention rules apply. This, however, has not been a universal solution as many Federal organizations have remitted payments based on the lower taxable rates, which they are entitled to do under Federal law. The overall issue around these retained education payments, and short payments remains unresolved at this time.

Financial and Resource Implications

The information and recommendations contained in this report have no impact on the County's 2023 budget. It reflects how the County and member municipalities tax levies will be distributed among the various property tax classes. Tax policy is governed by the Assessment Act, R.S.O 1990, c.A. 31, Municipal Act, 2001, and the various supporting regulations.

This report has been prepared after consultation with Local Municipal Treasurers and with the services of the County's tax consultant Municipal Tax Equity (MTE).
